Expected cost and duration

We are not expecting to have any cost for this project, since the only external tool that we intend to use is a server to keep the web running that Napier university will provide us. Apart from that, all the tools that we will be using are free and open resources. All the code will be written using python and we will be using the ETOPO1 dataset that the client provides us.

We are expecting to finish the mandatory requirements in a short period of time, allowing us plenty of time to implement extra tools and ideas to make a better prototype.
